Daily Routine Sheet

Advance Read (evening before)
I skimmed tomorrow's page
One-line intention for tomorrow (write whatever you feel / whatever comes to mind) →

_____

This tiny prep often means more energy and a smoother start

1 Setup

Set 20-minute timer

Phone on silent/flight mode

Mini-promise: "For the next 20 minutes, I'm with myself."

2 State Check

Clarity 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Calm 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Energy 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Self-Trust 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Note - Mark one number each

3 Arrive & Regulate

Ground body (feet, shoulders loose, tongue relaxed) Hand to heart/belly • Emphasize 3 slow exhales

5-Senses

See - Hear - Feel - Smell - Taste

Note - Consciously observe one thing, consciously hear one thing, and consciously feel one thing (for "feel," it could be an object or an emotion you are currently noticing). Of course, you are also welcome to consciously include smelling and tasting.

Specific daily exercise

Day Page Note (for today's exercise)

Stay focused and time-boxed; commit to one honest, doable shift

(All specific tasks live on the individual Day pages)

Notes (free writing box)

(Use this space for anything you want to capture - write whatever you feel / whatever comes to mind)

After-Care (choose 1-3)

Drink a full glass of water

Stand up / loosen shoulders & neck

Step to a window or outside for 1 minute

3 slow exhales (emphasize the out-breath)

Soften jaw/eyes; hand to heart/belly

Quick stretch (30–60s)

Safety Box

(always applies)

You may pause at any time

The 5-Senses Exercise is a safe anchor

It helps you steady yourself

Dosage over intensity

"Today, I consciously created space for change."